Summary of Committee Activity

The Committee on Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Compensation Programs was established in the 1988 session and was given the following directives:

- (1) That the committee's inquiries shall include, but not be limited to, the following areas and issues:
 - (a) What constitutes fair and adequate compensation for various types of injuries, given the general purposes of the workmen's compensation system;
 - (b) The economic effect of workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance rates upon various industries and their effect upon the economic competitiveness of Colorado as a whole when compared with other states;
 - (c) Criteria of eligibility for all forms of workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance benefits;
 - (d) Who should be covered by the workmen's compensation act;
 - (e) The criteria for the payment of medical benefits under workmen's compensation, including problems of preexisting conditions, intervening injuries, and the possible applicability of a deductible arrangement;
 - (f) The function and discretion of administrative law judges, the scope of interpretation permitted to them, their qualifications, and standards of accountability to be applied to them; and
 - (g) What shall be included as wages in the calculation of workmen's compensation or unemployment insurance benefits, including the wage basis and the employee's length of time on the job.
- (2) That the committee shall take account of the study currently being conducted by the Department of Labor and Employment regarding the workmen's compensation system and shall endeavor to incorporate the results of that study into its findings and recommendations. (House Joint Resolution No. 1039)

Meetings were held beginning in June and the committee completed its deliberations on January 5, 1989. A total of eight meetings of the full committee were held.

The following subcommittees were established to review in detail the numerous recommendations offered the committee and to prepare draft bills for the full committee:

Benefits -- Representative K. Williams, chairman; Senators Allard and Norton; Representatives Irwin and Reeser.

Litigation -- Senator Allard, chairman; Senator R. Powers; Representative Mutzebaugh.

Permanent Partial and Permanent Total Disability -- Senator Norton, chairman; Senator Traylor; Representative Reeser.

Medical Care Cost Containment -- Senator Traylor, chairman; Representatives Irwin and Reeser.

Penalties and Incentives -- Representative Irwin, chairman; Representative K. Williams.

Premiums -- Representative Mutzebaugh, chairman; Senator R. Powers, Representatives Irwin, Masson, and K. Williams.

Unemployment Insurance -- Representatives Masson and Dyer, co-chairmen; Representative Reeser.

The committee's recommendations include eight bills, the first five concerning workmen's compensation and the final three relating to unemployment insurance:

- Bill 1 -- Concerning the Provision of Benefits under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado".
- Bill 2 -- Concerning the Provision of Health Care to Injured Employees under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado".
- Bill 3 -- Concerning the Resolution of Disputes Arising under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado".
- Bill 4 -- Concerning Insurance Coverage under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado", and, in Connection Therewith, Providing for Repayments from Employers From Insurers in the Case of Cancellations or Changes in Rates by Classification.
- Bill 5 -- Concerning Personal Liability of Corporate Officers and Shareholders for Failure to Secure Insurance as Required under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado".
- Bill 6 -- Concerning Unemployment Insurance under the "Colorado Employment Security Act".
- Bill 7 -- Concerning the Industrial Claim Appeals Panel.
- Bill 8 -- Concerning Benefits Under the "Colorado Employment Security Act" When an Employee Quits, and, in Connection Therewith, Providing that No Benefits shall be Awarded when an Employee Quits for a Better Job or to Seek Other Work.

Data Management

The committee also recommends that the Joint Budget Committee provide increased funding to improve the data management capabilities of the Division of Labor in the Department of Labor and Employment. This recommendation was presented to the Joint Budget Committee (JBC) in a letter that is included as Appendix A of this report. The Division of Labor needs improved computer facilities to provide basic information for the management and analysis of the workmen's compensation system in Colorado.

With their present facilities, the Division is unable to meet many fundamental information needs for an efficient and effective system. As the letter to the JBC indicates, Colorado lacks the capability of finding where delays are occurring in the system. The Division is unable to foresee trends, and, therefore, unable to counteract problems in their early stages. Dealing with problems such as the backlog of cases becomes a matter of guesswork. These are only a few of the areas that improved data would help to manage, but they illustrate the frustration of both the legislative and executive branches in trying to understand a massive system with limited information, or more commonly, none at all.

Lewis Study of the Colorado Workmen's Compensation System

The committee's perspective was enhanced by a study of the workmen's compensation system in Colorado conducted by a nationally recognized consultant to the Division of Labor, John H. Lewis. The Lewis study was completed in mid-December, and Mr. Lewis met with the committee in November to indicate his preliminary findings and met with the committee again in December and January after the report had been completed.

One central aspect of the Lewis report is that it presents alternative directions for Colorado's workmen's compensation system. These approaches may be viewed as administrative contrasted with litigious. To paraphrase Mr. Lewis' comments at the November meeting, the choice is a philosophical one, whether to have more cases handled through administrative processes or whether cases can be handled most fairly through a litigation based system. The administrative system requires financial and other resources for implementation, but a litigation system could well be more expensive in total costs.

The committee members agreed that more thought and consideration needs to be given to many major issues, including which overall direction the Colorado workmen's compensation system should take. Continued study of the system is necessary, as is oversight of recent legislative changes in workmen's compensation. Representative Ament, committee chairman, reports that he plans to introduce a resolution to continue committee work, to monitor recent changes, and to recommend further changes. With more complete data and continued study, changes based on a more thorough understanding of the system will be possible over the next several years.

Recommendations for Legislation

Bill 1 - HB 1322

Provision of Benefits Under the Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado

Topics covered by the Benefits Subcommittee are included in Bill 1. The bill clarifies the status of inmates in regard to workmen's compensation, amends two definitions, and changes three sections under which benefits are calculated.

Exemption of Inmates from Workmen's Compensation

This bill clarifies the workmen's compensation status of inmates in correctional institutions by specifically excluding them from workmen's compensation coverage. Two exceptions are made:

- (a) inmates working for private employers under contracts for hire while serving their sentences in community corrections programs; and
- (b) inmates working in correctional industries in programs with joint ventures with private investors or businesses.

Excepting inmates from workmen's compensation coverage may result in inmates being entitled to sue the state under the tort system for injuries in their work stations. The annual cost for including inmates under workmen's compensation coverage is estimated to cost over $2.0 million.

Definition of State Average Weekly Wage

This provision changes the determination of the average weekly wage so that it is based on the average weekly earnings in all industries. The current level ($354.67 per week) is based only on construction and manufacturing industries. For temporary total and partial disability cases, the injured worker now receives two-thirds of his average weekly wage, not to exceed 80 percent of the state average ($354.67). The 80 percent figure is changed to 91 percent to compensate for the lowering of the average weekly wage. The result is that benefits will stay at approximately their current level.

Definition of Individual's Average Weekly Wage

The definition of "wages" is amended to provide greater certainty in determination of a worker's wage. As amended, this section includes tips in the definition of wages and specifically excludes any benefits that are not listed from the definition of employee wages.

Waiting Period for Benefits

This provision extends from three to seven days the period for which disability indemnity is not paid to an injured worker. Approximately 20 percent fewer cases will be reported under this recommendation. Medical and related expenses will continue to be paid from the time of injury.

Offsets for Social Security

Under this provision, retirement benefits from Social Security and employer programs are included as benefits that require a reduction in workmen's compensation benefits. The amount to be reduced is one-half of the amount of the Social Security retirement or the employer contribution to the retirement plan. Offsets for Social Security disability payments are required under present law, and the retirement offset parallels the disability provision.

Benefits for Actual Wage Loss

This section states that temporary disability benefits shall be awarded only during the time an injured employee sustains a wage loss due to the injury.

Bill 1 - HB 1322

BY REPRESENTATIVES K. Williams, Masson, and Reeser;
also SENATOR Norton.

A BILL FOR AN ACT

- 1 CONCERNING THE PROVISION OF BENEFITS UNDER THE "WORKMEN'S
2 COMPENSATION ACT OF COLORADO".

Bill Summary

(Note: This summary applies to this bill as introduced and does not necessarily reflect any amendments which may be subsequently adopted.)

Excludes inmates of correctional facilities who are working from the definition of "employee" for purposes of the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado", except if such inmate is working for a private employer who carries workmen's compensation insurance for his employees or for certain joint ventures. Makes such a privately employed inmate an employee of such private employer for workmen's compensation purposes. Makes an inmate working for a joint venture an employee of such joint venture for workmen's compensation purposes.

Provides that the state average weekly wage be based upon the average of the average weekly earnings in all covered industries in Colorado as furnished by the division of employment and training in the department of labor and employment instead of upon the average of the average weekly earnings in selected industries in the state.

Changes the definition of "wages" under the act to include only the reasonable value of the enumerated benefits.

Extends the period for which no disability indemnity, except for medical and related expenses, is available under the act from three days to seven calendar days, measured from the day the employee leaves work as a result of the injury.

Includes federal social security retirement benefits and employer retirement benefits in the category of benefits that requires a reduction in the workmen's compensation benefits by one-half the amount of such federal or employer benefits. Provides that, if federal law requires a reduction in such retirement benefits because of the workmen's compensation benefits, the amount of reduction in workmen's compensation benefits shall be in proportion to such reduction of federal benefits.

Provides that temporary disability benefits under the act shall be awarded only for periods of time when the injured employee actually sustains a wage loss attributable to the injury, subject to the limitations set forth in sections 8-51-102 and 8-51-103, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Changes the percentage of the state average weekly wage that is the basis of the limits on the amount of temporary total disability benefits and temporary partial disability benefits that a worker's compensation claimant may receive per week.

Makes conforming amendments.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

2 SECTION 1. 8-41-106 (1) (a) (IV), Colorado Revised
3 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., is amended, and the said 8-41-106

11 in which he is engaged at the time of such injury or death, as 12 determined by the director; except that, if any such person is 13 a minor, compensation for such minor for permanent disability,

15 the maximum rate of compensation payable under articles 40 to 16 54 of this title at the time of the determination of such 17 disability or death.

18 (4) (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph
19 (IV) of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section,
20 "employee" excludes any person who is confined to a city or

2 its employees pursuant to articles 40 to 54 of this title.
3 Such inmate shall be an employee of such private employer for 4 purposes of articles 40 to 54 of this title.

5 (c) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection
6 (4) do not apply to an inmate working for a joint venture
7 established pursuant to the provisions of section 17-24-119 or 8 17-24-121, C.R.S. Such inmate shall be an employee of such 9 joint venture for purposes of articles 40 to 54 of this title.

10 SECTION 2. 8-46-113 (1), Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
11 Repl. Vol., is amended to read:

12 8-46-113. State average weekly wage - method of 27 Compensation Act of Colorado" as of 12:01 a.m., July 1, 1974,

Correctional industries exception for inmates engaged with correctional industry statutes which permit numerous types of programs and venture agreements.

Amends present law to provide that the state average weekly wage shall be based on the average of the average weekly earnings in all industries in Colorado instead of upon the average earnings in only construction and manufacturing industries.

1 and at each succeeding time and date annually thereafter.

2 SECTION 3. 8-47-101 (2), Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
3 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended to read:

4 8-47-101. Basis of compensation - "wages" defined -
5 average weekly wage. (2) Whenever the term "wages" is used,
6 it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the 7 services rendered are recompensed under the contract of hire
8 in force at the time of the injury, either express or implied.
9 ~~and shall not include gratuities received from employers or~~ 10 ~~others; nor shall it include the amounts deducted by the~~ 11 ~~employer under the contract of hire for materials, supplies,~~
12 ~~tools, and other things furnished and paid for by the employer~~
13 ~~and necessary for the performance of such contract by the~~ 14 ~~employee; but~~ The term "wages" shall include TIPS AND the 15 reasonable value of board, rent, housing, AND lodging ~~or any~~ 16 ~~other similar advantages~~ received from the employer, the 17 reasonable value of which shall be fixed and determined from 18 the facts by the division in each particular case, BUT SHALL 19 NOT INCLUDE ANY SIMILAR ADVANTAGE OR FRINGE BENEFIT NOT 20 SPECIFICALLY ENUMERATED ABOVE. The term "wages" as applied to 21 farm and ranch labor employees and as applied to employees of 22 agricultural corporations shall be based solely upon the 23 income reported on the employees' W-2 form for federal income
24 tax purposes.

25 SECTION 4. 8-51-101 (1) (a), Colorado Revised Statutes,
26 1986 Repl. Vol., is amended to read:

27 8-51-101. Disability indemnity payable as wages - period

This section amends the definition of "wages" to include only the reasonable value of the enumerated benefits and specifies certain additional benefits that are to be included in the definition.

1 of disability. (1) (a) If the period of disability does not
2 last longer than ~~three~~ SEVEN CALENDAR days from the day the
3 employee leaves work as a result of the injury, no disability
4 indemnity shall be recoverable except the disbursement
5 provided in articles 40 to 54 of this title for medical,
6 surgical, nursing, and hospital services, apparatus, and 7 supplies, nor in any case unless the division has actual 8 knowledge of the injury or is notified thereof within the 9 period specified in said articles.

10 SECTION 5. 8-51-101 (1) (c), Colorado Revised Statutes,
11 1986 Repl. Vol., as amended, are amended to read:

12 8-51-101. Disability indemnity payable as wages - period
13 of disability. (1) (c) (I) In cases where it is determined
14 that periodic disability benefits granted by the federal 15 old-age, survivors, and disability insurance act are payable 16 to an individual and his dependents, the aggregate benefits
17 payable for temporary total disability, temporary partial 18 disability, permanent partial disability, and permanent total
19 disability pursuant to this section shall be reduced, but not 20 below zero, by an amount equal as nearly as practical to 21 one-half such federal periodic benefits; but, if provisions of 22 the federal old-age, survivors, and disability insurance act
23 should be amended to provide for a reduction of an 24 individual's disability benefits thereunder because of 25 compensation benefits payable under articles 40 to 54 of this
26 title, the reduction of compensation benefits provided in said
27 articles shall be decreased by an amount equal to such federal

This amendment extends the period for which no disability indemnity, except medical and related expenses, is available from 3 days to 7 calendar days, measured from the day the employee leaves work as a result of the injury.

1 reduction. Upon request of the insurer or employer, the
2 employee shall apply for such federal periodic benefits and 3 respond to requests from the insurer or employer as to the 4 status of such application. Failure to comply with this 5 section shall be cause for suspension of benefits.

6 (II) IN CASES WHERE IT IS DETERMINED THAT PERIODIC 7 BENEFITS GRANTED BY THE FEDERAL OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND 8 DISABILITY INSURANCE ACT ARE PAYABLE TO AN INDIVIDUAL AND HIS
9 DEPENDENTS, THE AGGREGATE BENEFITS PAYABLE FOR PERMANENT TOTAL
10 DISABILITY PURSUANT TO THIS SECTION SHALL BE REDUCED, BUT NOT
11 BELOW ZERO, BY AN AMOUNT EQUAL AS NEARLY AS PRACTICAL TO 12 ONE-HALF SUCH FEDERAL BENEFITS; BUT, IF PROVISIONS OF THE
13 FEDERAL OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE ACT
14 SHOULD BE AMENDED TO PROVIDE FOR A REDUCTION OF AN
15 INDIVIDUAL'S PERIODIC BENEFITS THEREUNDER BECAUSE OF
16 COMPENSATION BENEFITS PAYABLE UNDER ARTICLES 40 TO 54 OF THIS
17 TITLE, THE REDUCTION OF COMPENSATION BENEFITS PROVIDED IN SAID
18 ARTICLES SHALL BE DECREASED BY AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO SUCH FEDERAL
19 REDUCTION. UPON REQUEST OF THE INSURER OR EMPLOYER, THE
20 EMPLOYEE SHALL APPLY FOR SUCH FEDERAL BENEFITS AND RESPOND TO 21 REQUESTS FROM THE INSURER OR EMPLOYER AS TO THE STATUS OF SUCH
22 APPLICATION. FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THIS SECTION SHALL BE 23 CAUSE FOR SUSPENSION OF BENEFITS.

24 SECTION 6. 8-51-101, Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
25 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW 26 SUBSECTION to read:

27 8-51-101. Disability indemnity payable as wages - period

"Offset" Provisions. Social security retirement and employer retirement are included as benefits that require a reduction in the workmen's compensation benefits. The amount of the reduction is one-half the amount of the social security or the amount of an employer contribution to the retirement plan. If federal law requires a reduction in such retirement benefits because of the workmen's compensation benefits, the workmen's compensation benefits shall be reduced in proportion to such reduction of federal benefits.

As in present law concerning social security disability, the new language requires that, if requested, an employee must apply for social security retirement benefits or risk the suspension of workmen's compensation benefits.

1 of disability. (2) Subject to the limitations set forth in
2 sections 8-51-102 and 8-51-103, temporary disability benefits
3 shall be awarded only for periods of time when the injured
4 employee actually sustains a wage loss attributable to the 5 injury.

6 SECTION 7. 8-51-102, Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
7 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended to read:

8 8-51-102. Temporary total disability. In case of 9 temporary disability of more than ~~three~~ SEVEN 'days' duration,
10 the employee shall receive sixty-six and two-thirds percent of 11 his average weekly wages so long as such disability is total,
12 not to exceed a maximum of ~~eighty~~ NINETY-ONE percent of the 13 state average weekly wage per week. Except where vocational 14 rehabilitation is offered and accepted as provided in section
15 8-51-107 (3), temporary total disability payments shall cease
16 when the employee reaches maximum improvement from medical 17 care or returns to work or is able to return to work or as 18 otherwise determined by the director. If vocational 19 rehabilitation is offered and accepted, any party may at any 20 time terminate vocational rehabilitation upon 'fourteen days'
21 written notice to the other parties and the director. For 22 purposes of this section, termination of vocational 23 rehabilitation shall be the same as if vocational 24 rehabilitation had never been offered and accepted, and the 25 employer or insurance carrier shall not be entitled to recover
26 any temporary total disability benefits paid during the period
27 that vocational rehabilitation was provided.

Temporary disability benefits shall be awarded only for the time when the injured employee actually sustains a wage loss attributable to the injury.

Sections 7 and 8 change the percentage of the state average weekly wage that is the basis of the caps on the amount of temporary total disability benefits and temporary partial disability benefits an injured employee may receive per week.

1 SECTION 8. 8-51-103, Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
2 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended to read:

3 8-51-103. Temporary partial disability. In case of 4 temporary partial disability, the employee shall receive 5 sixty-six and two-thirds percent of the impairment of his 6 earning capacity during the continuance thereof, not to exceed
7 a maximum of eighty NINETY-ONE percent of the state average
8 weekly wage per week. Temporary partial disability payments
9 shall cease when the employee reaches maximum improvement from 10 medical care or as otherwise determined by the director.

11 SECTION 9. 8-53-102 (1), Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986
12 Repl. Vol., is amended to read:

13 8-53-102. Notice concerning liability. (1) The 14 employer or, if insured, his insurance carrier shall notify in 15 writing the division and the injured employee or, if deceased,
16 his dependents within twenty-five days after notice or 17 knowledge of an injury to an employee which disables said
18 employee for more than three SEVEN shifts or three SEVEN 19 calendar days or results in permanent physical impairment or 20 death of said employee, whether liability is admitted or 21 contested; but, for the purpose of this section, any knowledge
22 on the part of the employer, if insured, is not knowledge on 23 the part of his insurance carrier. Where the employer's
24 report of injury shows that the employee is temporarily
25 disabled for three SEVEN days or less and medical attention as 26 provided by section 8-49-101, if required, has been afforded
27 at the expense of the employer or the insurance carrier, then

1 no admission or denial of liability need be filed until the
2 employer or, if insured, his insurance carrier has knowledge
3 of or notice of claim for compensation benefits and then
4 within fifteen days from the date of such knowledge or notice.

5 SECTION 10. Effective date - applicability. This act
6 shall take effect July 1, 1989, and shall apply to all claims
7 under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado" which are 8 filed on or after said date.

9 SECTION 11. Safety clause. The general assembly hereby
10 finds, determines, and declares that this act is necessary
11 for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health,
12 and safety.

Bill 2 - SB 183

Provision of Health Care to Injured Employees Under
The Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado

This bill deals with several major issues, including clarifying the current statutes on the provision of medical care, as well as providing stronger mechanisms to reduce excess medical costs, for example, by guarding against overtreatment.

Key Definitions, Including "Maximum Medical Improvement"

In the first two sections, four key definitions used throughout the bill are provided, including "authorized treating physician", "emergency", and "medical case management services". "Maximum medical improvement" (MMI) is defined as when the underlying physical condition causing the claimant's disability becomes stable and no further reasonable treatment will measurably improve the condition.

Part of the committee's intent is to make MMI more of a medical determination than it is at present. The MMI determination is important because temporary benefits are ended at the point of MMI, and the level of permanent impairment is then determined. Problems have occurred in the past because MMI is not specifically defined in current statute, and medical benefits may continue beyond the point necessary to the claimant's recovery.

Medical Transportation and Prosthesis Costs

Section 3 provides that travel to and from places of medical treatment is not medical aid that the employer must provide, unless the travel is medically necessary by a medical vehicle, or the average distance travelled to and from places of medical treatment exceeds the average mileage that the claimant would have travelled to and from work.

This section also removes the limit on the number of prosthetic devices that the employer is required to furnish for the employee. The prostheses and other equipment include braces, dentures, glasses, and artificial limbs.

Provision of Medical Care

The next several sections of this bill are related generally to the provision of medical care, especially focusing on mechanisms to strengthen medical case management. Some of the major provisions of these sections include:

- Specifying the insurer's and employer's right to contract for medical services;

- Including the authorized treating physician (ATP) under the provisions of utilization review;
- Providing for the appointment of an ATP, including:
 - Selecting the ATP;
 - Removing chiropractors from the definition of ATP;
 - Providing stronger mechanisms for case-management through the ATP; and
 - Allowing an employee to select or request that his physician become the ATP. (Section 8-49-103)
- Implementing an independent medical examination (IME) process and listing issues that may be reviewed through the IME, including:
 - Change of the authorized treating physician;
 - Whether maximum medical improvement has been reached;
 - Questions of whether the injury was work related; and
 - Whether an employee is able to return to work. (Section 8-49-102.5)
- Stating that maximum medical improvement determination is made by the ATP, and that temporary total and temporary partial benefits shall cease when MMI is reached.

Release of Medical Records

The final section of the bill provides that medical information regarding the evaluation, treatment, and progress of an injury covered under workmen's compensation insurance shall be made available to the insurer upon written request. Currently, the only way for an insurer to get information relevant to a claimant's medical treatment is through utilization review, which is a lengthy process and one that is relatively expensive to the system.

A BILL FOR AN ACT

1 CONCERNING THE PROVISION OF HEALTH CARE TO INJURED EMPLOYEES
2 UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE "WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT
3 OF COLORADO".

Bill Summary

(Note: This summary applies to this bill as introduced and does not necessarily reflect any amendments which may be subsequently adopted.)

Defines "authorized treating physician", "emergency", "maximum medical improvement", and "medical case management services". Provides that at the time of the injury or as soon thereafter as the employer has notice of the injury, the employer may select the authorized treating physician who attends the injured employee, and that such physician shall be a medical doctor or a doctor of osteopathy. In the absence of such selection, allows the employee to select the authorized treating physician.

Provides that the authorized treating physician is responsible for the overall management of the medical treatment of the injured employee, including the initiation of all referrals to other health care providers and institutions; the development of a treatment plan for the injured employee and the monitoring of progress toward accomplishment of the treatment plan, including periodic review of the patient's current status and the treatment goals and methods; the determination of the time at which a claimant has reached maximum medical improvement; and the review of medical treatment provided to the injured employee in an emergency.

Allows insurers or self-insured employers to contract for medical services and supplies for those entitled to benefits under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado". Eliminates the provision that the state compensation insurance authority can contract for such services and supplies only after a determination that such contracting might tend to reduce the employee's period of disability.

Allows the employee to request his own choice of authorized treating physician by written request to the insurer or employer, if self-insured.

Allows the employee to request the division of labor's permission to have a physician of his own selection attend him as the authorized treating physician.

Provides that the utilization review process may include a review of the performance of the authorized treating physician and the provision of medical case management services.

Provides that the order of the director of the division of labor that a provider refund fees charged for services when a utilization review committee has so recommended is enforceable in district court.

Provides that a physician's report of maximum medical improvement, the absence of a determination of maximum medical improvement, or the issues of whether the authorized treating physician should be changed, whether the employee's physical problem is due to the job-related injury, or whether the employee is able to return to work may be appealed to the division of labor by means of a written request for an independent medical examination to be conducted by a physician appointed from a list developed by the director. Requires that the person requesting the examination shall pay for it. Authorizes the director to enter orders affirming any determination made by the reviewing physician in an independent medical examination, and specifies that such orders may be appealed and that the report and order shall be admissible in evidence in proceedings under the act. Provides that the physician's determination shall be entitled to a presumption of validity that may be overcome only by clear and convincing evidence.

Clarifies the persons who are eligible for payment under the act and the conditions under which medical care provided to the employee in an emergency is reimbursable. Makes conforming amendments.

Specifies that travel to and from places where medical aid is provided is not medical aid which must be furnished by the employer unless the travel is by means of a medical vehicle and such means is medically necessary or unless the average total distance traveled per month for medical aid exceeds the average total distance traveled per month to and from work. Provides that, when the total distance traveled to and from work exceeds the total average distance traveled for medical aid, then the employer must reimburse the employee for the cost of the excess.

Allows for the replacement of prosthetic devices, hearing aids, or artificial limbs, as necessary, when an injury has resulted in certain losses.

Specifies that all medical information regarding the evaluation, treatment, and progress of an injury, including the existence of any preexisting condition which directly affects the treatment and severity of the injury, covered under workmen's compensation insurance shall be made available to the insurer upon written request.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

The bill provides four definitions used throughout the act:

The "Authorized treating physician" (ATP) provides medical treatment and acts as medical case manager if necessary.

"Emergency" is defined to differentiate between the person who provides emergency treatment and treatment by the authorized treating physician.

"Maximum medical improvement" (MMI) is not defined in current statute. This provision defines MMI. The committee's intent is to make MMI more of a medical determination than it is at present.

"Medical case management" is the overall management of medical treatment of an injured employee by the authorized treating physician.

1 health care providers and institutions; the development of a
2 treatment plan for the injured employee; and the monitoring of 3 the employee's progress towards accomplishment of the 4 treatment plan, including periodic review of the patient's

20 reasonably needed at the time of an injury or occupational

22 on-the-job injury. However, insurers and self-insured
23 employers should not be liable to pay for care unrelated to a

Bill 3 - SB 179

Resolution of Disputes Arising Under the Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado

Changes recommended in Bill 3 include provisions stating that legislative intent is that neither the employee's nor the employer's side be favored in workmen's compensation cases, that the time limits for filing cases be reduced, that procedures for mediation be expanded, and that administrative law judges be subject to performance review.

Rule of Liberal Construction

The legislative declaration repeals the rule of liberal construction and states instead that legislative intent is that workmen's compensation cases be decided on their own merits, not in favor of either the employee or employer. The primary intent of this provision is to overturn existing case law which has favored employees in close decisions.

Time Limitations on Filing Claims

This provision reduces the time limitations for filing certain workmen's compensation claims from three years to two years after the injury occurs. Filing of occupational disease claims is reduced from five to three years.

Mediation

This section creates a mediation process for the handling of claims in the Division of Labor. The main purpose of this proposal is to have a non-adversarial method of solving claims without adjudication. Presently, if there are disputes over the provision of workmen's compensation, the parties must go through a lengthy hearing process. This review process is extremely backlogged, and disputants may have to wait from six to nine months for a hearing. The Division of Labor would like to clear smaller cases out of the system in a more timely and efficient manner.

Performance Review of the Division of Administrative Hearings

This final section provides for a performance review by the General Assembly of the Division of Administrative Hearings every four years. The review will include length of time taken to make decisions and the overall performance of administrative law judges (ALJs). The committee's intent is to increase the accountability of ALJs.

- Including the authorized treating physician (ATP) under the provisions of utilization review;
- Providing for the appointment of an ATP, including:
 - Selecting the ATP;
 - Removing chiropractors from the definition of ATP;
 - Providing stronger mechanisms for case-management through the ATP; and
 - Allowing an employee to select or request that his physician become the ATP. (Section 8-49-103)
- Implementing an independent medical examination (IME) process and listing issues that may be reviewed through the IME, including:
 - Change of the authorized treating physician;
 - Whether maximum medical improvement has been reached;
 - Questions of whether the injury was work related; and
 - Whether an employee is able to return to work. (Section 8-49-102.5)
- Stating that maximum medical improvement determination is made by the ATP, and that temporary total and temporary partial benefits shall cease when MMI is reached.

Release of Medical Records

The final section of the bill provides that medical information regarding the evaluation, treatment, and progress of an injury covered under workmen's compensation insurance shall be made available to the insurer upon written request. Currently, the only way for an insurer to get information relevant to a claimant's medical treatment is through utilization review, which is a lengthy process and one that is relatively expensive to the system.

A BILL FOR AN ACT

- 1 CONCERNING THE RESOLUTION OF DISPUTES ARISING UNDER THE 2 "WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT OF COLORADO".

Bill Summary

(Note: This summary applies to this bill as introduced and does not necessarily reflect any amendments which may be subsequently adopted.)

States that it is the intent of the general assembly that the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado" be interpreted so as to assure the quick and efficient delivery of disability and medical benefits to injured workers at a reasonable cost to employers. Specifies that it is the intent of the general assembly that workmen's compensation cases shall be decided on the merits and that the rule of "liberal construction" shall not apply to such cases. Declares that the workmen's compensation laws are not remedial in any sense and are not to be given a broad liberal construction in favor of either the employee or the employer.

Decreases the amount of time in which a claimant under the workmen's compensation statutes must file notice claiming compensation under the provisions of such statutes.

Provides that disputes arising under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado" may be resolved through mediation under a program established by the division of labor. Authorizes the director of the division of labor in the department of labor and employment to adopt rules and regulations to implement the program. Makes such mediation proceedings confidential and prohibits mediators from testifying about information obtained thereby.

Authorizes the director of the division of labor to promulgate rules and regulations establishing time schedules for the hearing of workmen's compensation cases by administrative law judges.

Requires the general assembly to provide for the conduct of performance reviews of the division of administrative hearings with respect to matters arising under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado" beginning in 1989 and not less than every four years thereafter. Specifies some of the topics that shall be included in such review.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado

2 SECTION 1. Article 40 of title 8, Colorado Revised
3 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., is amended BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW
4 SECTION to read:

5 8-40-101.5. Legislative declaration. It is the intent
6 of the general assembly that the "Workmen's Compensation Act
7 of Colorado" be interpreted so as to assure the quick and 8 efficient delivery of disability and medical benefits to 9 injured workers at a reasonable cost to the employers. It is 10 the specific intent of the general assembly that workmen's
11 compensation cases shall be decided on their merits and that 12 the rule of "liberal construction" shall not apply in such 13 cases. The workmen's compensation system in Colorado is based 14 on a mutual renunciation of common law rights and defenses by 15 employers and employees alike. Accordingly, the general
16 assembly hereby declares that the workmen's compensation laws
17 are not remedial in any sense and are not to be given a broad
18 liberal construction in favor of the employee on the one hand
19 or of the employer on the other hand.

20 SECTION 2. 8-52-105 (2) and (3), Colorado Revised
21 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., are amended to read:

22 8-52-105. Notice of injury - time limit. (2) The

This section repeals the rule of liberal construction, stating that legislative intent is that workmen's compensation cases be decided on their own merits, not in favor of either the employee or employer. The interpretation of provisions of the workmen's compensation law should be neutral, not favoring one side or the other.

1 director shall have jurisdiction at all times to hear and
2 determine and make findings and awards on all cases of injury
3 for which compensation or benefits are provided by articles 40
4 to 54 of this title. Except in cases of disability or death
5 resulting from exposure to radioactive materials, substances,
6 or machines or to fissionable materials, or any type of 7 malignancy caused thereby, or from poisoning by uranium or its 8 compounds, or from asbestosis, silicosis, and anthracosis, the 9 right to compensation and benefits provided by said articles
10 shall be barred unless, within ~~three~~ TWO years after the 11 injury or after death resulting therefrom, a notice claiming 12 compensation is filed with the division. This limitation shall 13 not apply to any claimant to whom compensation has been paid
14 or if it is established to the satisfaction of the director
15 within ~~five~~ THREE years after the injury or death that a
16 reasonable excuse exists for the failure to file such notice
17 claiming compensation and if the employer's rights have not 18 been prejudiced thereby, and the furnishing of medical,
19 surgical, or hospital treatment by the employer shall not be 20 considered payment of compensation or benefits within the 21 meaning of this section; but, in all cases in which the 22 employer has been given notice of an injury and fails,
23 neglects, or refuses to report said injury to the division as 24 required by the provisions of said articles, this statute of 25 limitations shall not begin to run against the claim of the 26 injured employee or his dependents in the event of his death
27 until the required report has been filed with the division.

The statute of limitations for filing workmen's compensation claims, excluding certain occupational disease claims, is reduced from 3 years to 2 years. Also, the delayed filing of claims, if established to the satisfaction of the director that a reasonable excuse exists for failure to file, is reduced from 5 to 3 years.

1 (3) In cases of disability or death resulting from 2 exposure to radioactive materials, substances, or machines or 3 to fissionable materials, or any type of malignancy caused 4 thereby, or from poisoning by uranium or its compounds, or 5 from asbestosis, silicosis, or anthracosis, the right to 6 compensation and benefits shall be barred unless, within five
7 THREE years after the commencement of disability or death, a
8 notice claiming compensation is filed with the division.

9 SECTION 3. Article 53 of title 8, Colorado Revised
10 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended BY THE
11 ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION to read:

12 8-53-105.5. Mediation. (1) As used in this section,
13 unless the context otherwise requires:

14 (a) "Mediation" means a process through which parties
15 involved in a dispute concerning matters arising under 16 articles 40 to 54 of this title meet with a mediator to

6 shall be admissible as evidence or subject to discovery under
7 said articles. No mediator who participates in mediation
8 proceedings conducted pursuant to this section shall be 9 compelled or permitted to testify about any matter discussed
10 or revealed during such proceedings in any other proceeding
11 under articles 40 to 54 of this title.

12 (4) The division shall develop a program to implement
13 the provisions of this section. Such program shall be a
14 simple, nonadversarial method for the mediation of disputes
15 arising under articles 40 to 54 of this title. Such program
16 shall provide for the use of neutral mediators and the conduct
17 of proceedings in an informal setting. The director shall 18 adopt rules and regulations to implement such program.

19 SECTION 4. Article 53 of title 8, Colorado Revised
20 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended BY THE
21 ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION to read:

22 8-53-130. Time schedule for hearings - establishment.
23 The director shall establish by rule and regulation a time
24 schedule for hearings by administrative law judges. Such 25 time schedule shall establish the length of time within which 26 specified hearings shall be held by administrative law judges
27 in workmen's compensation cases. Extensions of time may be

1 granted by an administrative law judge upon written request by 2 any party to the case. Such extensions may be granted when 3 the interests of all parties will be served.

8 qualifications - performance review of division.

9 (3) Commencing in the 1989 legislative session and not less
10 than every four years thereafter, the general assembly shall 11 provide for the conduct of a performance review of the 12 division of administrative hearings with respect to the 13 services such division provides to the division of labor in 14 the department of labor and employment to hear matters arising
15 under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado", articles
16 40 to 54 of title 8, C.R.S. Such review shall include, but 17 not be limited to, the following topics: The time elapsed

21 number of cases assigned to each administrative law judge; and 22 the public perception of the quality of the performance of the 23 division of administrative hearings with respect to matters
24 arising under the "Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado".

Bill 5 - HB 1137

Personal Liability of Corporate Officers and Shareholders for Failure to Secure Insurance as Required under the Workmen's Compensation Act of Colorado

This bill establishes the right of an injured worker to collect workmen's compensation awards from officers and shareholders of corporations which are not covered by a worker's compensation policy at the time of a worker's on-the-job injury. Remedies under the act are extended to include personal liability of corporate officers and shareholders if the corporate assets are not sufficient or are not available to pay an award.

Instances have been reported of corporations failing to carry workmen's compensation insurance, and then, after a claim, filing for dissolution or bankruptcy, or reorganizing to avoid payment of debts. The statutes contain penalties for failure to carry workmen's compensation insurance, but the injured worker presently has no means of collection if a company chooses to evade its responsibilities by some type of reorganization.

The bill has the effect of allowing an injured employee to pierce the corporate veil of employers who fail to obtain workmen's compensation insurance.

6 (1), (2), (3), and (4) of this section.

7 SECTION 2. Effective date. This act shall take effect

9 SECTION 3. Safety clause. The general assembly hereby
10 finds, determines, and declares that this act is necessary
11 for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health,

Injured workers are given remedies to collect workmen's compensation awards from officers and shareholders of corporations which fail to obtain workmen's compensation

avoid payment of debts.

Unemployment Insurance under the Colorado Employment Security Act

There are two distinct parts to this bill:

- (a) Technical amendments (sections 1, 2, and 3); and
- (b) The state unemployment insurance trust fund (sections 1 and 4).

Technical amendments, with one substantive amendment

The first change corrects a reference to federal law. The definition of "crew leader" in Colorado law contains a reference to the federal Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act which no longer exists. The correct reference should be to the federal Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act. (8-70-103 (10) (f.3) (II) (A), C.R.S.)

Cafeteria plan benefits are also addressed in the first section. As of January 1, 1987, the Federal Unemployment Tax Act provides that the definition of wages is not to include payments to or made on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary for a cafeteria plan. The bill conforms Colorado law with federal law to specifically exclude cafeteria plan benefits from the Colorado definition of wages for unemployment insurance benefits. (8-70-103 (22) (b) (IV) (H), C.R.S.)

Section 2 addresses penalties and assessments. Colorado law provides that employers who fail or refuse to furnish job separation and other pertinent information shall be assessed a penalty of $25.00, but that this penalty may be overcome by a showing of good cause. Changing the word "shall" to "may" would provide administrative flexibility for the division but would still allow for administration of the penalty where appropriate. (8-73-107 (1) (h), C.R.S.)

Two changes in eligibility requirements are also contained in section 2:

- (a) Substantive provision: A person receiving unemployment benefits and seeking benefits for a subsequent benefit period is required to be employed in work for which he has received payment of at least $2,000. (8-73-107 (2), C.R.S.)
- (b) Technical change: Determining whether the above requirement for employment has been satisfied has been difficult for the division, particularly when the claimant has received money for doing odd-jobs for a relative, for example. The bill requires that wages received in order to requalify for unemployment insurance be earned from "covered" employment, meaning insured employment, as a means of increasing the accuracy in determining benefit payments. (8-73-107 (1) (h), C.R.S.)

The statute on voluntary "quits for health" is clarified in section 3. In cases involving a worker quitting a job for reasons of health, the statute lists several criteria for receiving benefits, including that a person be able and available for work at the time of filing a claim for benefits. Eligibility requirements are specified in another section of the law and include that a person be able and available for work and be actively seeking employment. Striking the word "available" in the statute pertaining to benefit awards will eliminate confusion resulting from the word appearing in two sections of the statutes and will reduce the possibility of "able and available" being used in appeals relating to voluntary quitting for health reasons. (8-73-108 (4) (b) (I), C.R.S.)

Section 3 also contains a provision allowing for an employee receiving unemployment compensation to be hired or rehired for up to a ten day period before the employee is eligible to receive new unemployment insurance benefits. This will allow former employees to be rehired on a temporary basis during emergency situations.

Finally, a reference to student learner programs is deleted because the division is not certain of its intent or the meaning of the term. The present law provides that an individual will not be denied benefits for quitting employment in a program of occupational education, but this reference was considered unnecessary. This paragraph is repealed in section 5 of the bill.

Unemployment Trust Fund

The solvency of the Colorado unemployment insurance trust fund needs continuing review to assure adequate resources in the fund in case of an economic downturn or unexpected layoffs with resulting high unemployment. Bill 6 provides a mechanism for increasing unemployment tax collections by extending the taxable wages on which the tax is based from the first $10,000 of payroll to the first $11,000 of payroll. (Section 1) The tax change is based on a triggering mechanism that will implement the increase if the fund balance is not at least $350 million as of June 30, 1989. The fund balance will almost certainly not reach that threshold.

The bill is similar in format to legislation enacted in 1986 that increased the taxable wage rate from $8,000 to $9,000 in 1987 and from $9,000 to the current $10,000 in 1988. The change could result in a fund reserve of $420.6 million by the end of 1993, a projection of about $65 million more in the fund than if no change were made. If the taxable wage base were to remain at $10,000, the trust fund will have an estimated reserve of $355.6 million by the end of 1993. These projections are from the Division of Employment and Training, Department of Labor and Employment.

This section increases the number of examiners on the industrial claims appeals panel. The Department of Labor and Employment would increase the number from 3 to 4 initially, reserving the 5th member until the workload warrants another member. The 4th member will be paid by federal unemployment insurance administration and this member would work exclusively on UI.

This section specifically provides that the panel may make findings of fact on UI cases, which will clarify present law and will assist the panel in reaching closure in cases heard.

24 apply to this article.
25 SECTION 4. Article 74 of title 8, Colorado Revised
26 Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., as amended, is amended BY THE
27 ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION to read:

1 8-74-110. Decisions of industrial claim appeals panel.

2 Decisions and final orders of the industrial claim appeals
3 panel may be made by two appeals examiners. In the event of a
4 disagreement between such two appeals examiners, a third
5 appeals examiner shall review the case, and the decision and 6 final order of the appeals panel shall reflect the collective 7 decision of all three appeals examiners.

8 SECTION 5. Effective date - applicability. This act
9 shall take effect July 1, 1988, and shall apply to all
10 decisions or orders of the industrial claim appeals panel
11 occurring on or after said date.

12 SECTION 6. Safety clause. The general assembly hereby
13 finds, determines, and declares that this act is necessary
14 for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health,
15 and safety.

This section provides a revised procedure for the panel in reaching decisions. Decisions and final orders will be made by two panel members, and, if they disagree, a third panel member would review the case. The final order is to reflect the collective decision of all three examiners.

Presently, all three members of the panel must review the specifics of each case, so this bill should reduce the backlog of cases before the panel.

Industrial Claim Appeals Panel

Three recommendations are submitted concerning the Industrial Claim Appeals Panel, all relevant to unemployment insurance, and one also pertaining to workmen's compensation. There are significant delays in unemployment insurance appeals hearings. The backlog of four to six months is due to the high number of unemployment insurance claim appeals, which reached 2,400 in 1987. An additional problem causing delays is that because of different statutory deadlines, workmen's compensation appeals often take precedence over unemployment insurance appeals. Colorado currently exceeds the federal deadlines for disposition of unemployment insurance appeals.

Additional Appeals Examiners

In order to help solve these problems, the committee recommends authorizing the appointment of five industrial claim appeals examiners, an increase of two examiners. These positions would be paid for by federal funds for the administration of unemployment insurance. The department plans to fill only one of the two newly-authorized positions immediately. Filling the fifth position would depend on whether the panel is able to significantly reduce its existing backlog with four members. The position would remain vacant, but the department would not need to seek the General Assembly's approval in a few years to amend the law to provide for the fifth examiner.

Procedures of the Panel

With the addition of the extra panel member or members, a revised procedure for making panel decisions is recommended. Instead of having a majority of the members deciding each case, whether for workmen's compensation or unemployment insurance, Bill 7 provides that decisions and final orders of the panel may be made by two of the appeals examiners. If the two examiners disagree, a third examiner shall review the case, and the decision and final order shall reflect the collective decision of all of the appeals examiners.

Findings of Fact by the Panel

The third recommendation is that the appeals panel be specifically authorized to make findings of fact when reviewing unemployment insurance appeals. A recent decision of the Colorado Court of Appeals, Clark v. Colorado State University (762 P.2d 698 (Colo. App. 1988)), held that the panel did not have such authority and, lacking this power, the panel is restricted in its ability to reach closure in cases heard. When the panel was established in 1987, the intent was for the panel to make as many final decisions as possible, to avoid further appeal to the Court of Appeals or the necessity of having cases remanded to the unemployment insurance hearing officers for more fact-finding.

A second change raises the maximum unemployment insurance tax rate from 5.4 percent to 5.5 percent and, in 1991, to 5.6 percent. (Section 4) This change primarily impacts employers who have benefit amounts paid out larger than their taxes paid in. In other words, there are "negative excess" employers who are paying unemployment insurance tax at the top bracket, but the benefits paid to their former employees from the state trust fund are in excess of the amount the employers pay into the fund. The negative excess employers whose unemployment insurance taxes will be increased. One purpose of this change is to create an incentive for employers with negative balances to bring their accounts into better balance and to reduce their subsidy from the fund. (Section 4)

The tax recommendations are submitted as a vehicle to provide increased security for fund solvency. In 1982 and 1983, Colorado experienced a fund deficit requiring the borrowing, with interest, of federal monies for the fund. The state's previous experience shows that tax changes to increase reserves in the fund need to be considered with greatest care in the 1989 session in order to avoid fund insolvency in the future.

1 CONCERNING UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE UNDER THE "COLORADO
2 EMPLOYMENT SECURITY ACT".

Bill Summary

(Note: This summary applies to this bill as introduced and does not necessarily reflect any amendments which may be subsequently adopted.)

Corrects a reference to a federal act for purposes of determining whether a crew leader is the employer of an individual who is furnished by the crew leader to perform services is agricultural labor for another person. Provides that the term "wages" shall not include any payment to, or on behalf of, an employee or his beneficiary under a cafeteria plan. Allows the division of employment and training to impose a twenty-five-dollar fine on employers who fail to file required reports instead of requiring the imposition of such fine. Clarifies that an individual must have been employed in insured work before he or she is eligible for unemployment insurance benefits during a subsequent benefit year. Deletes requirements relating to separations from employment for health reasons from consideration of the award of benefits. Repeals the statute that provided that an individual may not be denied benefits for quitting employment to participate in a student-learner program.

Increases the amount of taxable wages subject to the "Colorado Employment Security Act" if the amount of money in the trust fund decreases below a specified amount.

Increases the amount of wages a person must earn in insured work before he qualifies for unemployment insurance benefits in a subsequent benefit period.

Specifies that, if the last separation for an employee is one from which a determination has been made, then the employee must work a specified number of days before a full

The IRS does not consider these benefits as wages. This section conforms Colorado law with federal law in regard to cafeteria plan benefits. The definition of wages for UI is not to include payments to or made on behalf of an employee or his beneficiary for a cafeteria plan and this section accomplishes this change.

This provision will permit an employee to be rehired for a short period of time, for example, to fill in temporarily during an emergency shortage and not have that time count as employment for additional UI benefits.

Technical change. Changes the statute to provide UI for eligible persons on the basis of being able to return to work, not on the basis of when they file for UI.

Striking the words "and available" is recommended to eliminate confusion which has resulted from these words appearing in both the section on benefits (this section) and the section on eligibility. Also, the possibility of "able and available" being used in appeals relating to voluntary quitting for health reasons will be reduced.

11 subparagraph (I) shall include benefits to a worker who,
12 either voluntarily or involuntarily, is separated from 14 the requirements of this subparagraph (I).

15 SECTION 4. 8-76-103 (3) (b) (II) (A) and (3) (b) (II)
16 (C), Colorado Revised Statutes, 1986 Repl. Vol., are amended

This tax change will raise the maximum UI tax rate from 5.4% to 5.5%, and, in 1991, to 5.6%. The impact would be placed on employers who have benefit amounts paid out larger than UI taxes paid in, which would otherwise put them in a tax bracket higher than allowed under present law.

1 that, for rate year 1984 1990, the negative excess employer

3 for employers with a negative excess of minus seventeen

5 and thereafter, the maximum rate for negative excess employers
6 shall be +.054 .056 as shown in the table set forth in 7 sub-subparagraph (C) of this subparagraph (II). "Percent of 8 excess", in both said tables, means the percentage resulting 9 from dividing the excess of taxes paid over benefits charged
10 by the average taxable payroll, computed to the nearest one
11 percent. The word "to", in the column headings which make 12 reference to fund balances (resources available for benefits),
13 means "not including".

Bill 8 - HB 1321

Limitations on Awards of Benefits for Quitting for a Better Job Under the Colorado Employment Security Act

This bill repeals two provisions of the "Colorado Employment Security Act" that include eligibility credit for unemployment insurance benefits for wages earned at the first job when an employee quits a job to accept a better job and then is subsequently separated from his new job.

Whether an employee should be eligible for unemployment insurance after quitting to take a better job has been discussed during the last two legislative sessions. The following declaration from the Colorado statutes reveals an emphasis in the unemployment insurance law on employees who are involuntarily unemployed, not persons who have voluntarily quit their employment:

Involuntary unemployment is therefore a subject of general interest and concern which requires appropriate action by the General Assembly to prevent its spread and to lighten its burden which now so often falls with crushing force upon the unemployed worker and his family. The achievement of social security protection against this greatest hazard of our economic life (Section 8-70-102, C.R.S., emphasis added)

Section 8-73-108, C.R.S., contains the provision for eligibility when a person has quit for a better job but also states that in administering the system, the General Assembly should "be guided by the principle that unemployment insurance is for the benefit of persons unemployed through no fault of their own" (emphasis added). The committee believes that former employment, which did not cause the situation of unemployment, should not be included in the calculation of unemployment benefits.

and Members, Joint Budget Committee
Legislative Services Building
14th Avenue and Sherman Street
Denver, CO 80203

Dear Senator Bird, Representative Gillis, and Members:

The interim Committee on Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Insurance has completed its work on draft legislation and has submitted its report and recommendations to the Legislative Council. Included in our report, and approved by the Legislative Council, is a funding recommendation for a new information system in the Division of Labor. We are submitting this recommendation directly to your committee for the reason that the matter is a budgetary concern and that no legislation needs to be enacted in conjunction with this request.

There are several reasons for the recommended expenditure. First, neither a legislative committee, the division, or any other agency or individual can analyze what is happening in workmen's compensation in Colorado. We do not have the capability of finding where delays are occurring in the system so that the problems of backlog can be addressed in legislation or by administrative action. We do not know which insurers have a consistent pattern of delay in payments to injured workers. We cannot detect trends and problems in the system until they become major areas of difficulty. The cost of workmen's compensation in the state is well over one-half billion dollars and we believe that an investment in the capability of understanding the system is well worth it.

As you know, the Director of the Division of Labor contracted with a nationally recognized consultant on workmen's compensation, John H. Lewis, to conduct a study of the Colorado system, pursuant to a directive in Senate Bill 79, 1987. The legislative appropriation for the study was $125,000. Absent the type of data system recommended for the division, it is likely that another consultant's study of the Colorado system will be necessary in a few years in order to find how the system has responded to recent administrative and legislative changes.

Our committee received detailed briefings from Mr. Husson on the cost and implementation period to establish a data system for the division. We are in support of his recommendations and urge that your committee consider the need for improved capability in managing workmen's compensation in Colorado. One of the bills that I will be carrying this session is to create for the next few years a legislative oversight committee for workmen's compensation. If a funds are appropriated for the purposes outlined in this letter, be assured that I will do everything I can to follow the progress of an information system and will be pleased to keep your committee informed and involved with the progress made in this area.

This letter was approved by the Legislative Council on January 10, as part of the committee's report and recommendations to the 1989 session. The letter was held, however, until members of the Legislative Council were assured that the Division of Labor was cooperating fully in its computer planning with the Information Management Commission. Having received this assurance, the letter was released.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Very truly yours,

Representative Don Ament
Chairman, Committee on Workmen's
Compensation and Unemployment Insurance
